

A Great Tour Guide

My friend Abdullah is an interesting person. He likes a lot of things. Therefore, it is hard to decide which job will suit him the best. However, from my point of view, I think Abdullah will succeed as a tour guide.

Firstly, Abdullah likes to travel. He finds traveling relaxing and enjoyable. Also, he loves to meet different kinds people. In another word Abdullah is a social person. Most important, he likes exploring other countries cultures.

Secondly, Abdullah likes reading. He is a good reader and this will defiantly help him to become a good tour guide. In addition, he reads a lot of books about traveling weather, and cultures. I think after 5 years from now he will have enough information to tell the tourist when he become a tour guide.

In the end, Abdullah is an outdoor person. He doesn't like to stay in closed spaces. In addition, He loves doing outdoor activities such as sports, picnics, and camping I think this will be an advantage for him.

To sum up, Abdullah likes to travel and he is a good reader. Also, he is an outdoor person. I think these things will make a tour guiding career perfect for him.
