

Types of Saudi Crude Oils

The Saudi Arabian oil is distinct of the diversity. There are five types of crude oil are produced from Saudi oil fields as follows:

1. The Arabian Heavy Crude Oil: This type is produced from the off-shore fields such as Al-Safaniah. The API gravity range of this type is as follows:
 $10 \geq \text{API} > 6$
2. The Arabian Medium Crude Oil: This type is produced from the off-shore fields such as Qatif and Khursaniyah. The API gravity range of this type is as follows:
 $21 \geq \text{API} > 10$
3. The Arabian Light Crude Oil: This type is produced from the on-shore fields such as Gawwar and Abu Hadrayah. The API gravity range of this type is as follows:
 $30 \geq \text{API} > 21$
4. The Arabian Extra Light Crude Oil: This type is produced from the on-shore fields such as Abqaa and Berri. The API gravity range of this type is as follows:
 $39 \geq \text{API} > 30$
5. The Arabian Super Light Crude Oil: This type is produced from the on-shore fields such as Hottah and Shaiba. The API gravity range of this type is as follows:
 $50 \geq \text{API} > 39$